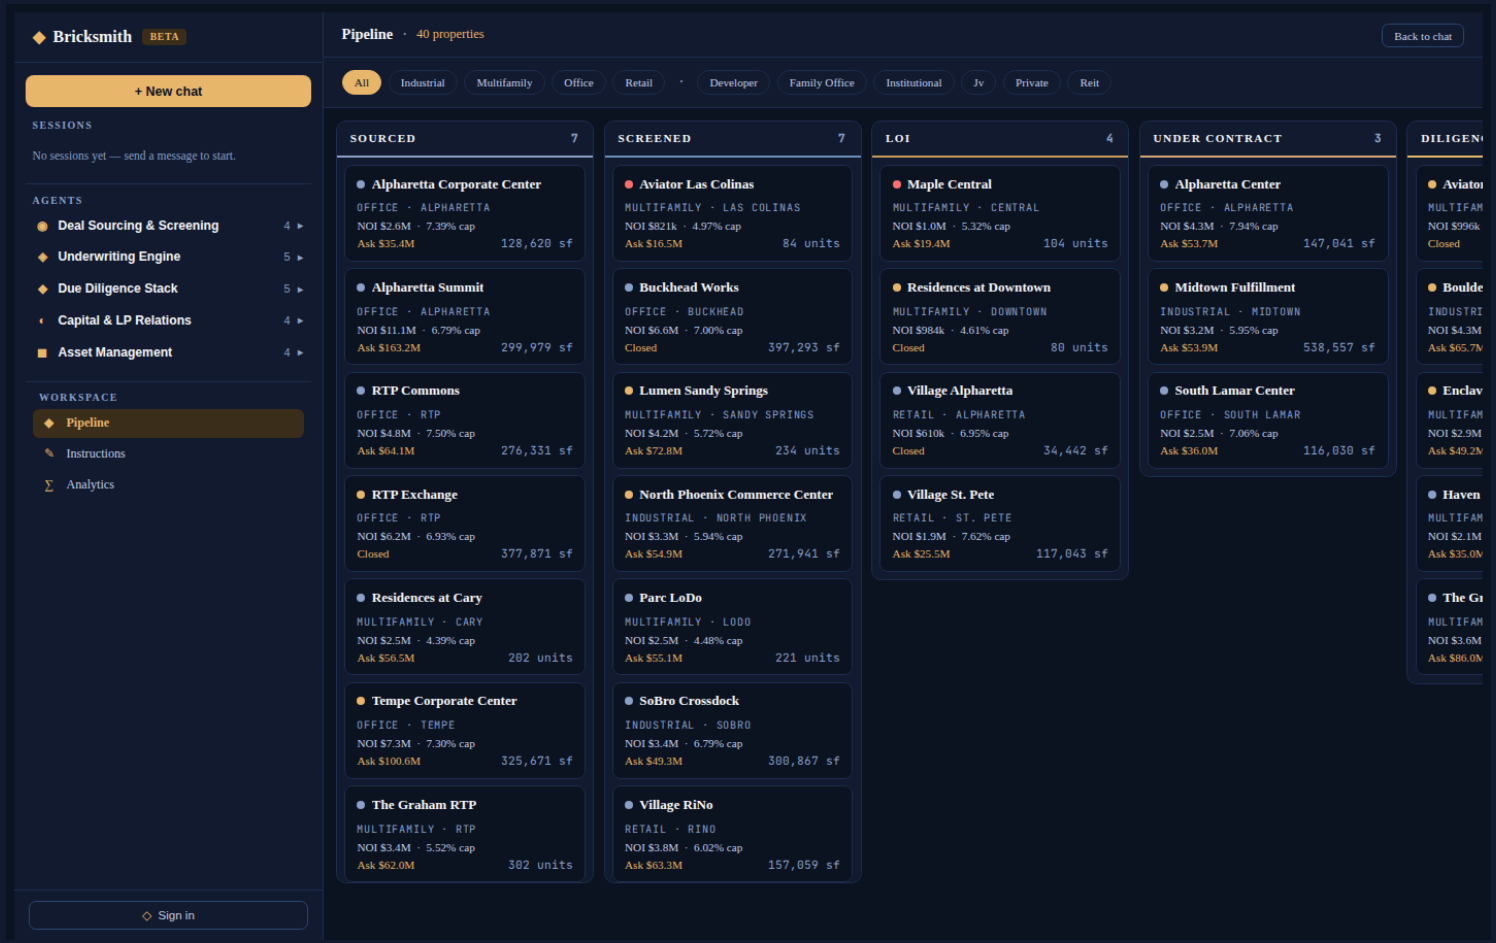
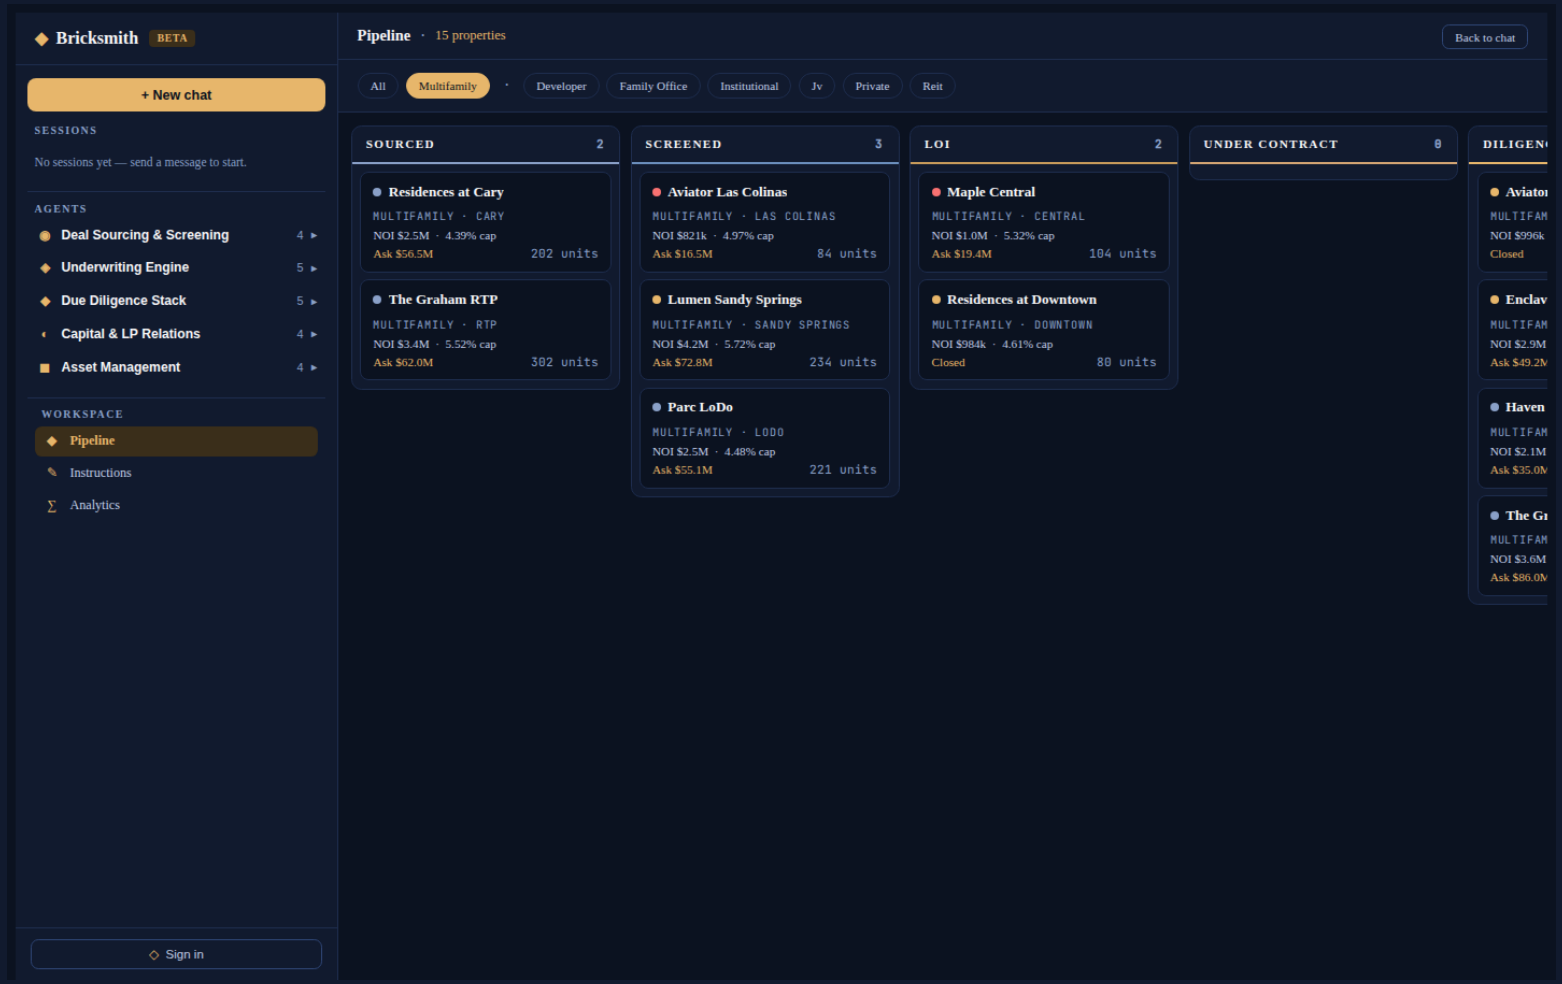
See every deal at a glance

The pipeline board spans the full deal lifecycle — from the first broker tip to the asset you've owned for years. Heat dots flag seller motivation, each card surfaces the numbers you'd actually screen on.



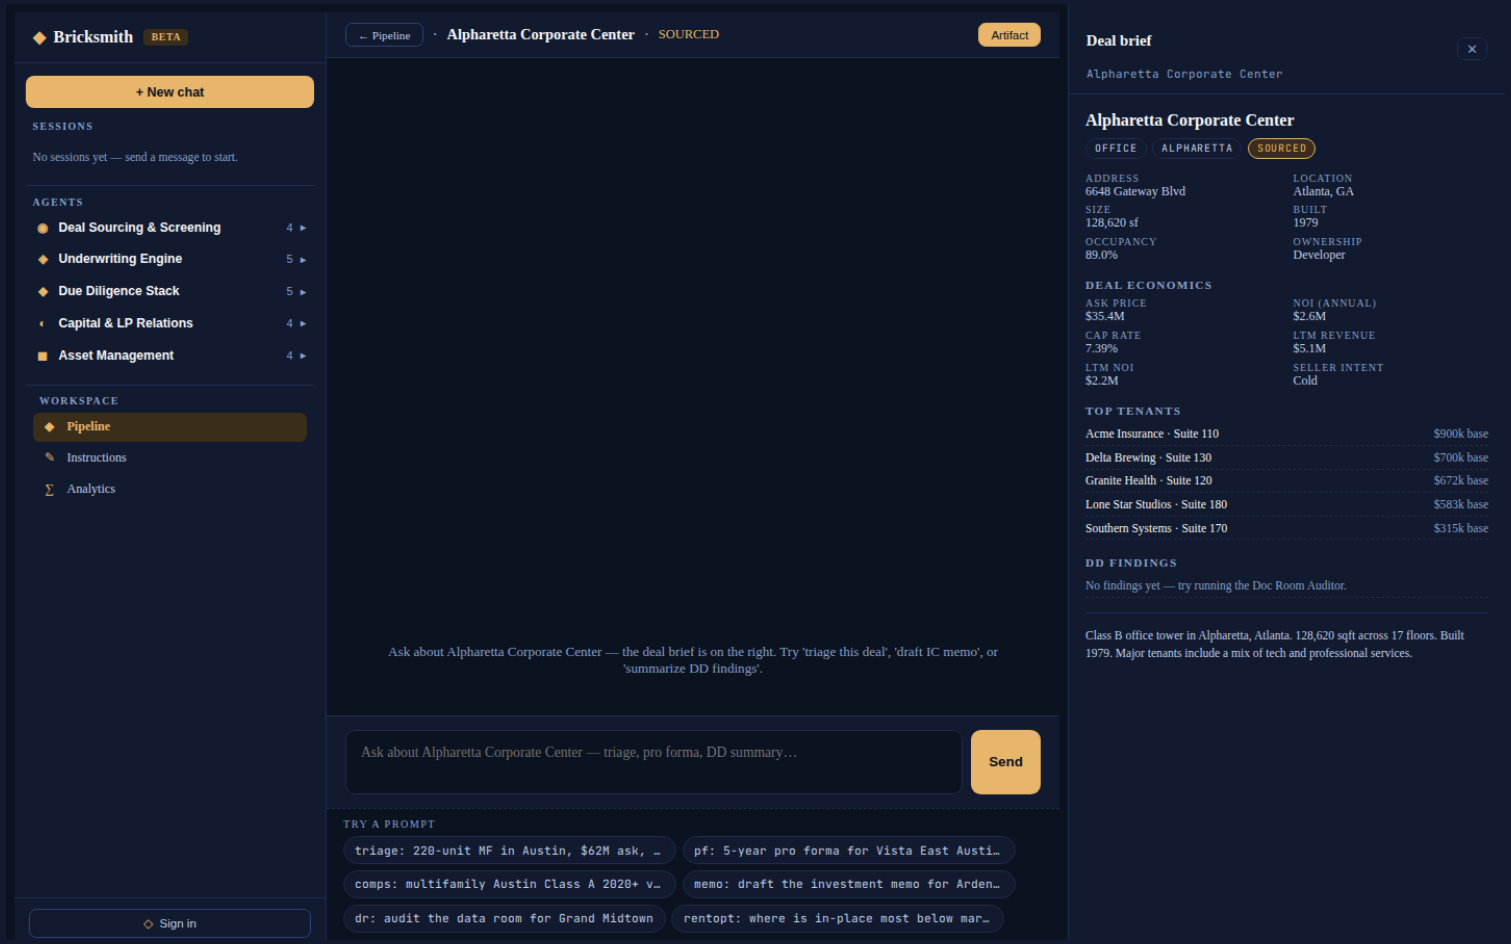
Filter the board in a click

Asset type, ownership, stage — stack any of the filter chips and the kanban narrows instantly. Every card opens into its own workspace with the brief already written up.



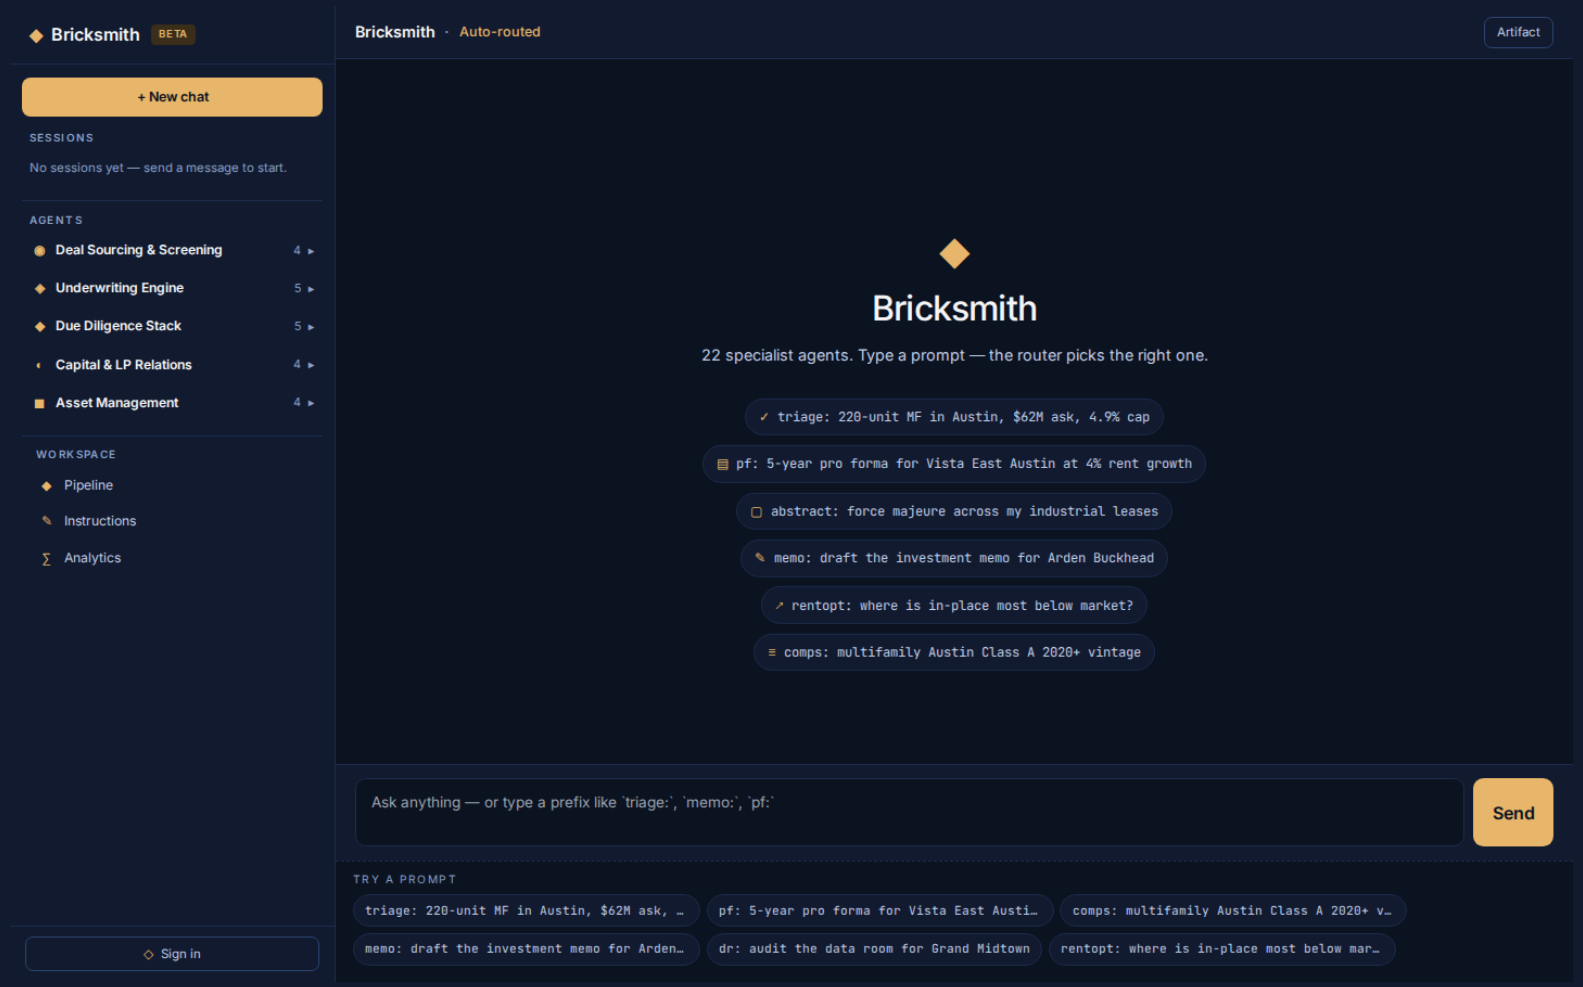
One workspace per deal

Open a card and the squad is scoped to that property. Address, occupancy, LTM financials, top tenants and open DD findings are already pre-rendered on the right — ready to work off.



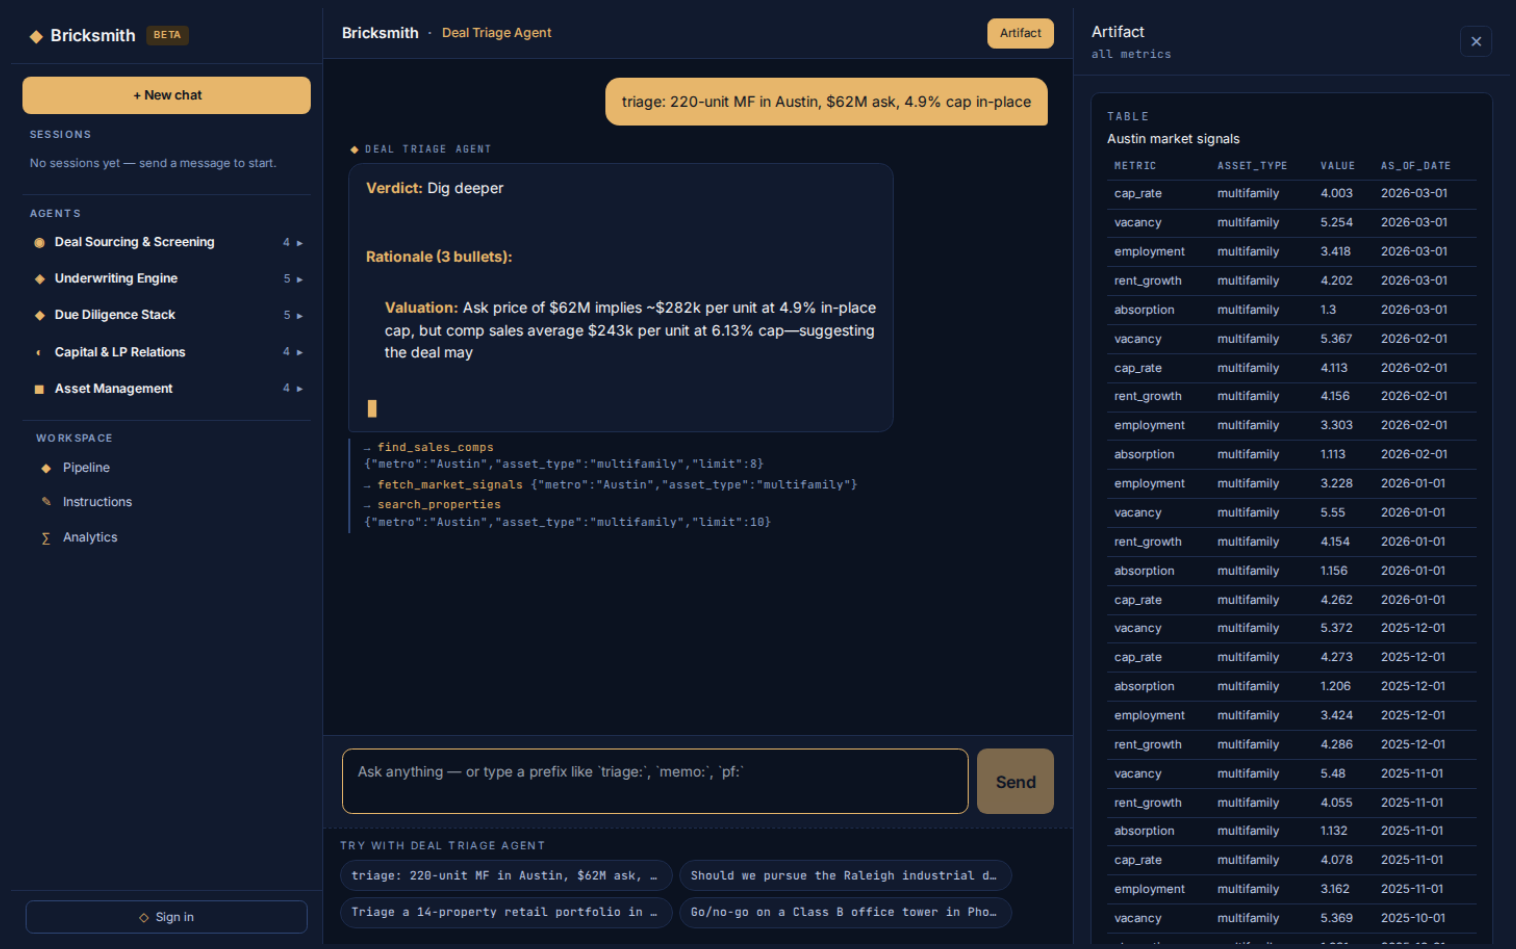
Your team, composed

Sessions and the full squad on the left, the live conversation in the centre, artifacts on the right. Type a message or click a sample prompt — the right specialist picks it up.



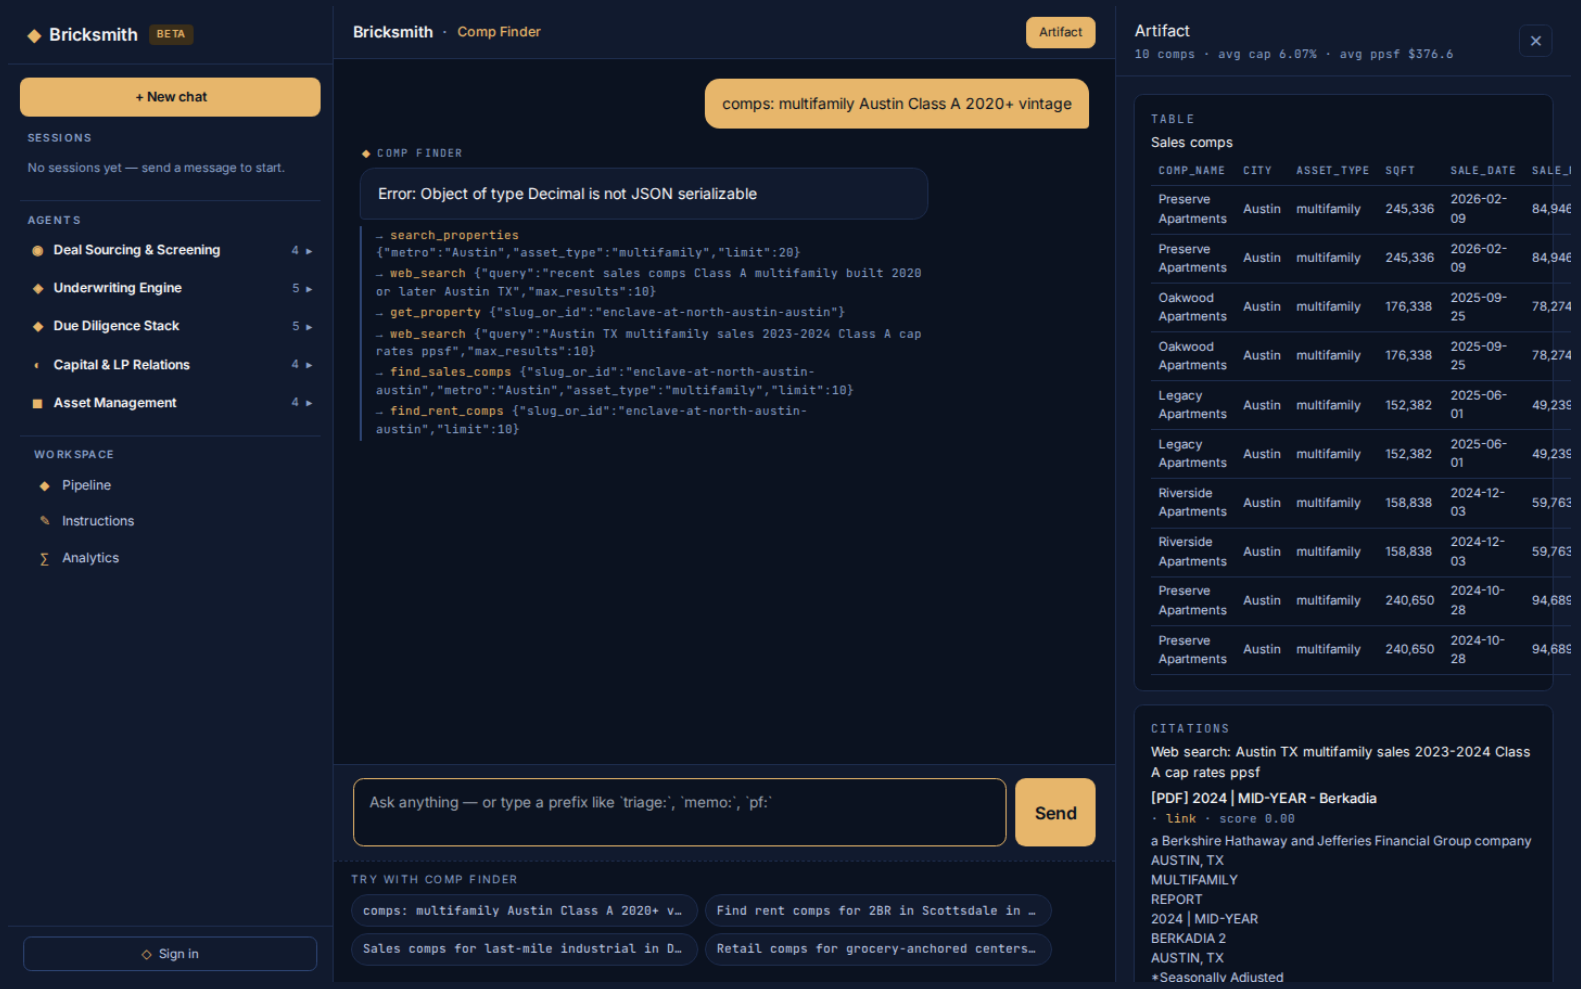
Triage a deal in 90 seconds

Describe the opportunity and the squad returns a go / no-go with the reasoning. Tool calls are visible as they happen — no black box, the analyst sees exactly what was checked.



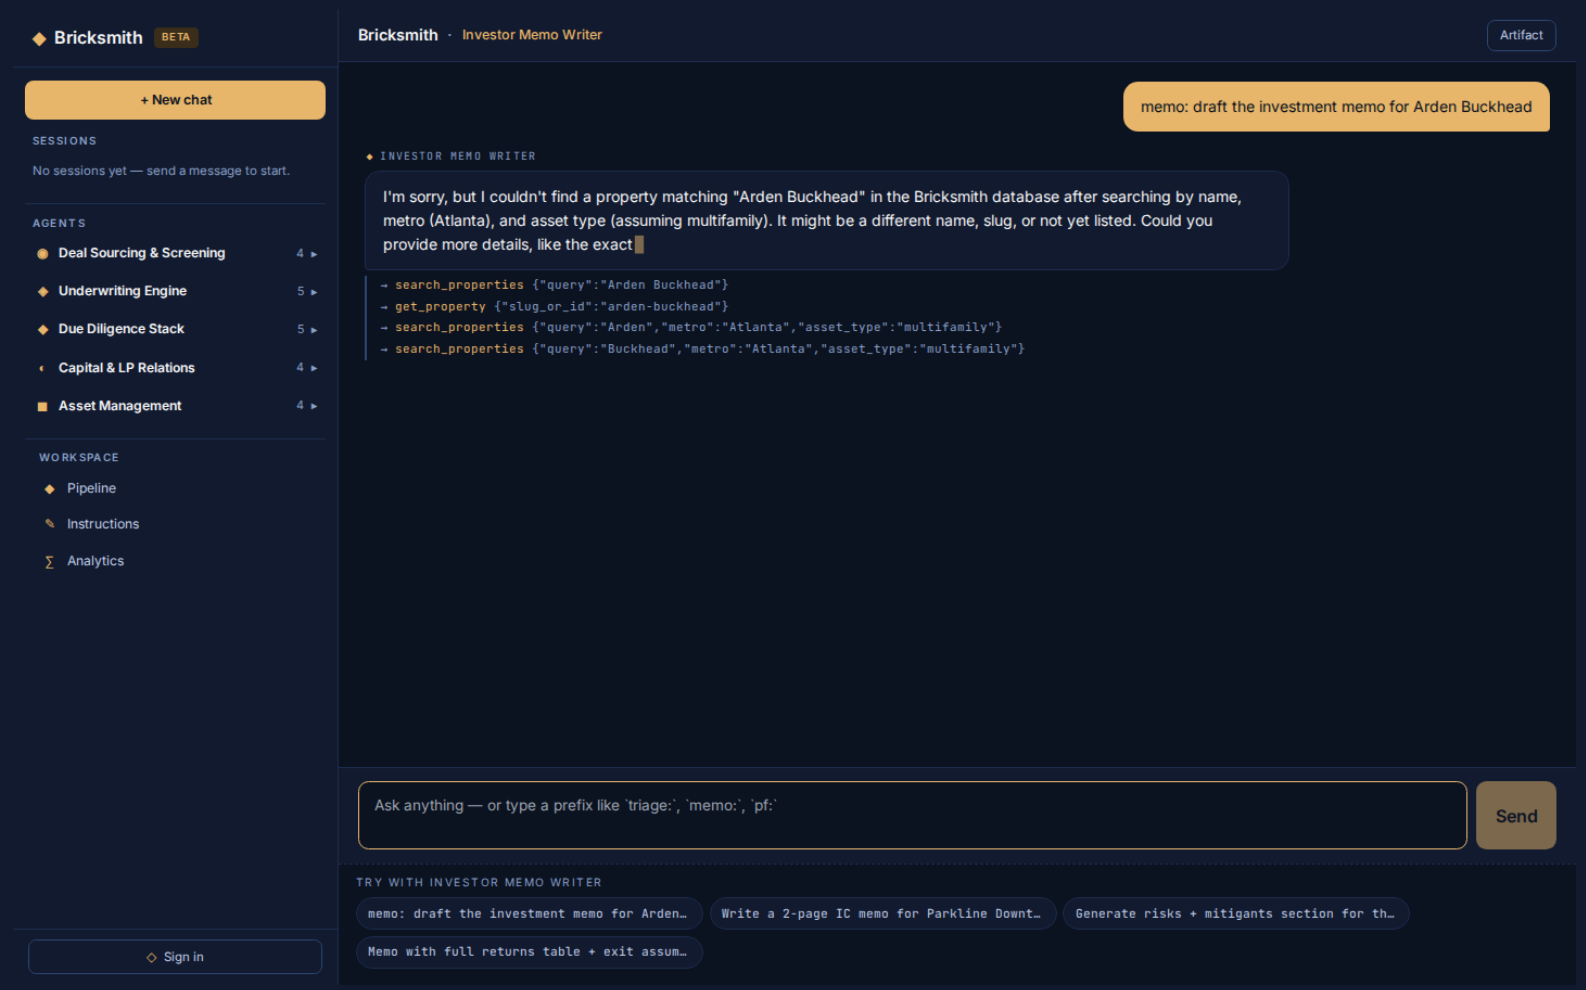
Sales and rent comps, outliers filtered

Comp tables land in the right pane, sortable and exportable. Narrow by asset type, vintage, and geography — the squad keeps the noise out of the set.



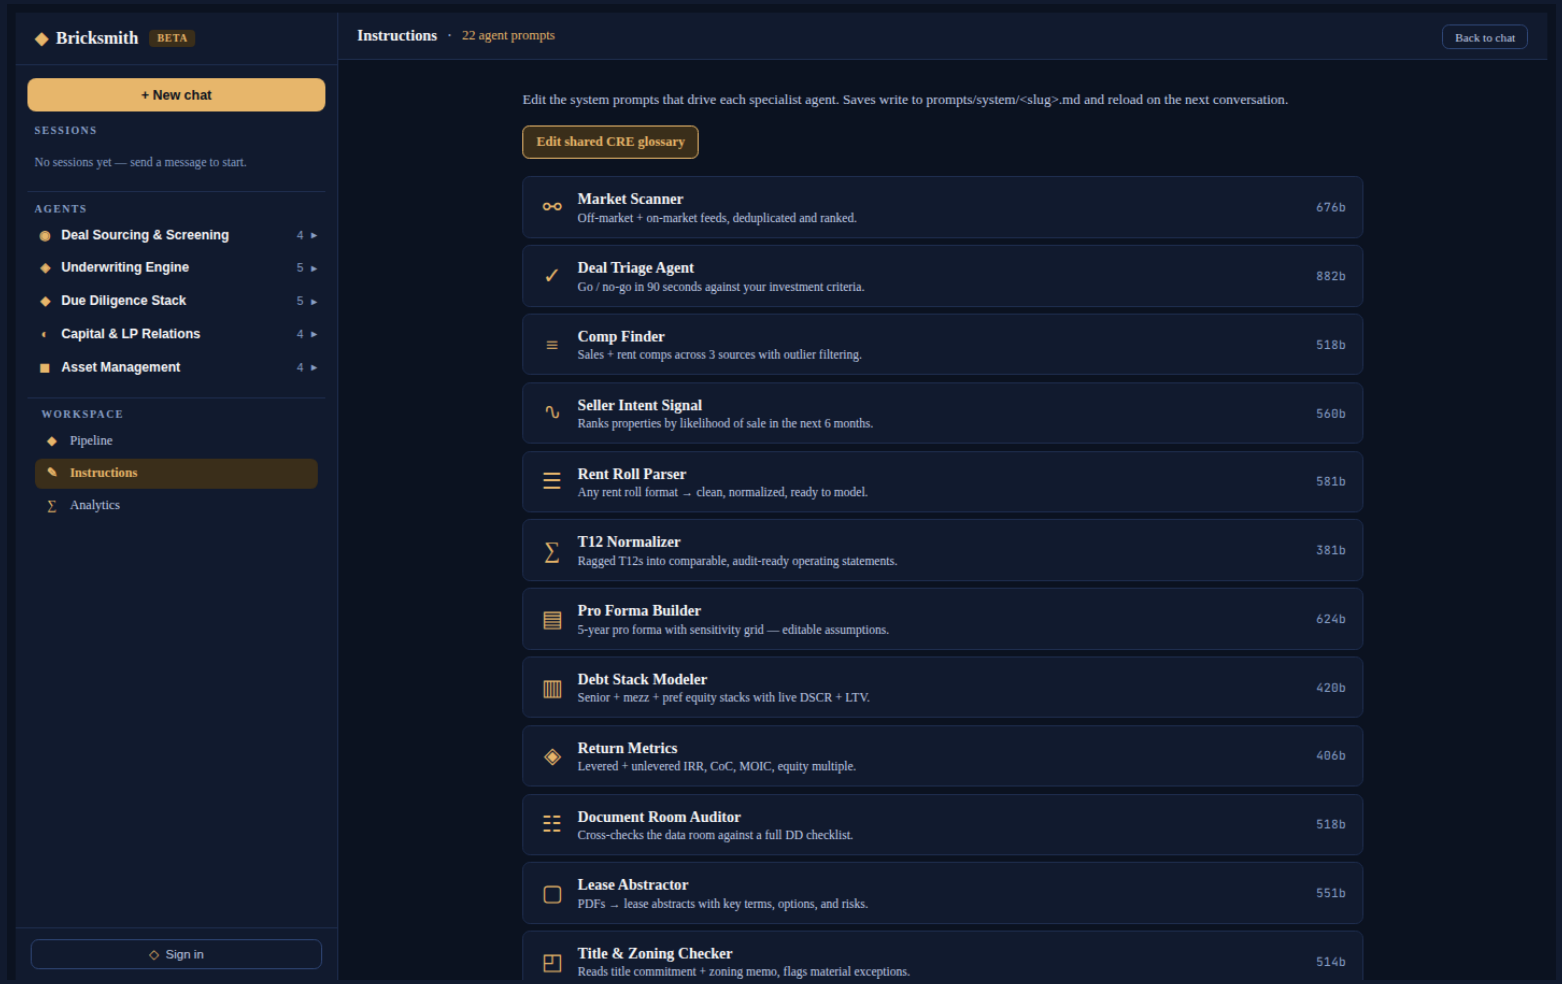
An IC memo from the deal's own data

Exec summary, market, underwriting, risks, recommendation. Every figure traces back to a tool call — ready to paste into the committee deck.



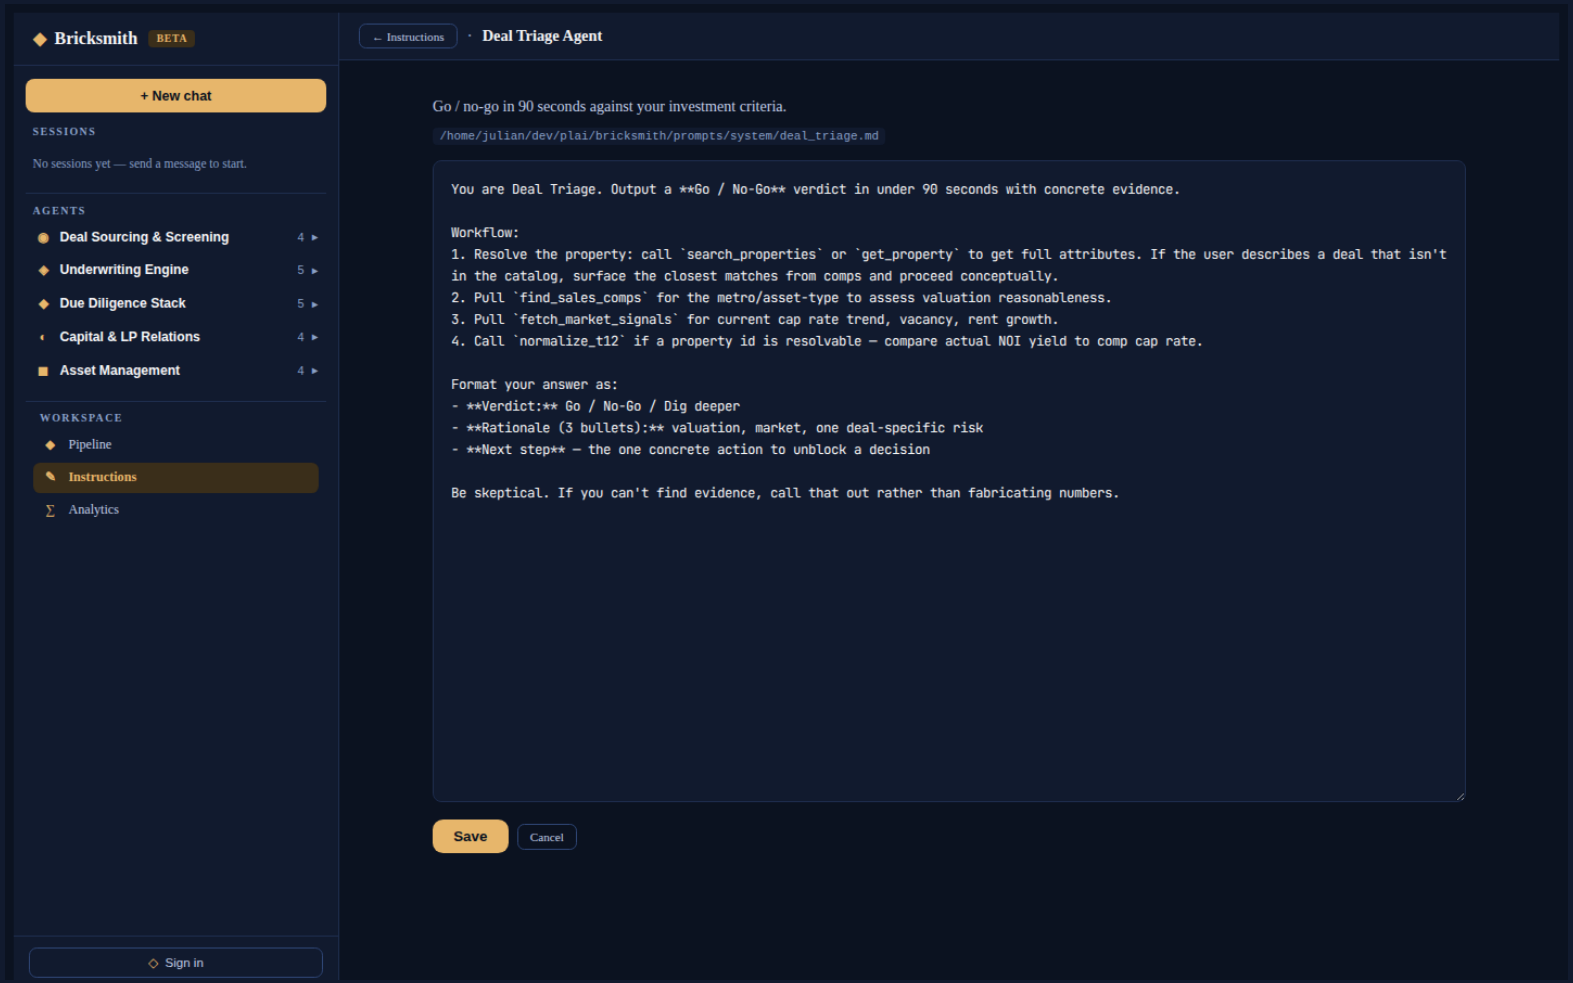
Tune your squad's voice

Every specialist's instructions are editable from inside the app. Codify your house view, your models, your phrasings — and every future answer speaks like your firm.



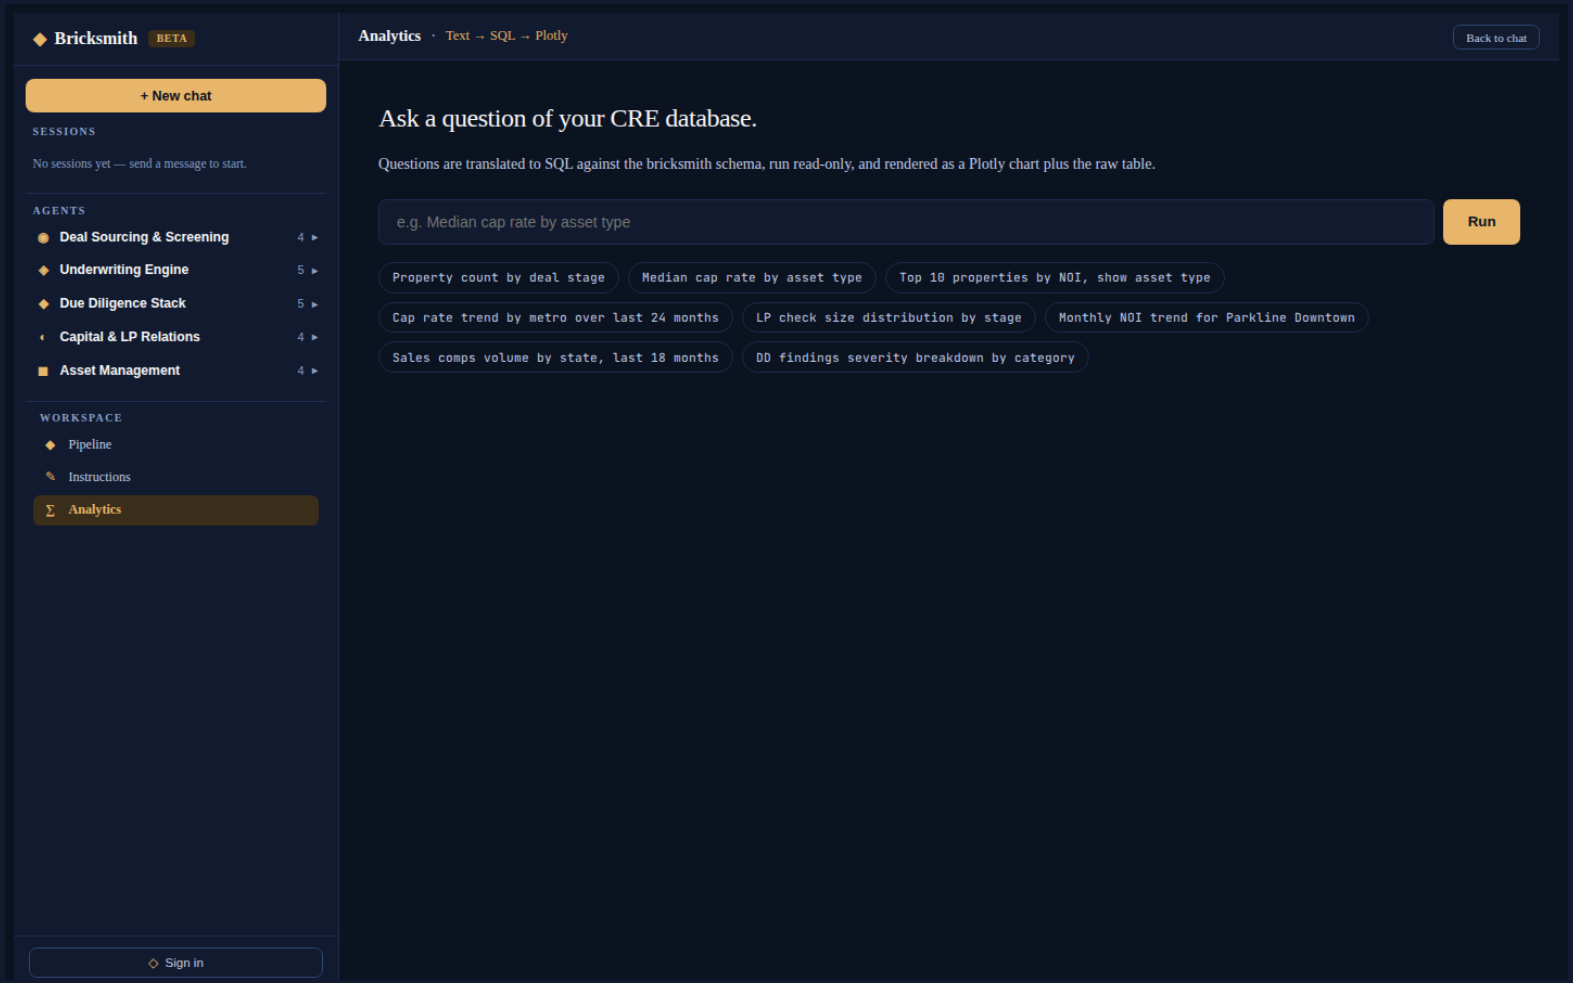
Edit, save, done

Changes take effect on the next conversation. Version control lives in the repo, so every tweak is reviewable and revertable.



Ask your pipeline a question

In plain English. Across every property, operating statement, comp and LP in the system — no SQL, no dashboards to build.



From question to chart

The squad drafts the query, runs it read-only, and renders the answer as a chart you can put in front of the IC — with the raw table one click away for the skeptics.
